

Greetings!

I hope you're all staying healthy and enjoying our (slightly) warmer weather. There are some important dates to note for this month and next month, and a few exciting opportunities coming up soon.

First, I am teaching on Monday May 30th. If you will be traveling please make sure to first, cancel your lesson in My Music Staff, and second, schedule a make-up lesson if you want one.

Second our next piano class is on May 21st. This will be the final composing class of the year, and we will be focusing on composing duets. Please let me know if you're interested in attending by Tuesday, May 10th. Class times are 10AM, 11:30AM, and 1:30PM on Zoom.

Third, our Spring Recital is right around the corner on June 12th. We will be in-person at Wedgwood Presbyterian, with their lovely Yamaha piano.

Due to restrictions at the venue, the recital will be from 5PM - 6PM, with a brief intermission around 5:30. Please mark your calendars!

Proof of vaccination for all attendees and masks are required. If you already sent me your vaccine card for the fall recital, there is no need to do so again.

Lesson Format

I have received a few inquiries about when I'll be offering in-person lessons again. Unfortunately, community spread has surged again, with most of Western Washington classified as High Transmission by our state health department. I will once again delay a return to in-person lessons, and evaluate how the numbers look in June.

Concerts

Seattle Symphony has some wonderful performances coming up, including Coyote's Tale, streaming on June 4, 2022. On June 18th, the Seattle Philharmonic will be giving the Northwest premier of Margaret Bonds' Montgomery Variations, written in tribute to the march for equal voting rights led by Dr. Martin Luther King in 1965.

Summer

The last day of the school term is June 17th. If you are interested in a summer package of lessons, please let me know!

I'm looking forward to seeing everyone at the recital next month,
